The Medical Education and Drugs Department (MEDDD), Government of Maharashtra, India, is seeking Expressions of Interest (EoI) from interested parties in the operationalizing newly built super speciality teaching hospitals at Latur and Aurangabad through Public Private Partnership (PPP).

These projects are part of the Pradhan Mantri Swasthya Suraksha Yojana (PMSSY) program that was announced in 2003 with the objectives of correcting regional imbalances in the availability of affordable/ reliable tertiary healthcare services and also to augment facilities for quality medical education in the country.

In 2019, a 242-bed super specialty blocks was built in the campus of Vilasrao Deshmukh Government Medical College (VDGMC), an existing government medical college in the city of Latur. With the area of four (4) acres, the hospital building comprises of built-up area of ground plus four (4) floors and is planned to deliver super specialty services with super speciality training.

Also, in 2019, a 220-bed super specialty teaching hospital was built on the campus of Government Medical College (GMC), in the district of Aurangabad. This project is also part of the PMSSY program, with an area of about three (3) acres, the hospital building comprises of built-up area of ground plus five (5) floors and is planned to deliver super specialty services with super speciality training.

Under the proposed PPP, the private operator would be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the hospitals and delivery of all clinical services, including the recruitment of doctors, nurses, and other health professionals, and provision of all additional medical equipment and all pharmaceuticals necessary for clinical services delivery; and will also provide medical education/ training for post graduate specialist doctors based on prevailing regulations (the “Project”). To facilitate the development and implementation of the Project and PPPs, the State of Maharashtra has adopted its own PPP policy framework. The size of the facility, the plan for implementation (i.e. whether there would be a phased implementation) and other relevant details of the PPP structure will be determined and included in the Request For Proposal (RFP) for the Project.
